Congratulations to our September student of the month for the RESPECT core value:

Kayleigh C.

Fall is officially here and we are in full swing of our academics. First quarter is coming to an end and our first intercession break is here as well.

I feel that the class has gotten to know each other better. We are off to a fantastic start. Parents, please continue to talk with your children about the importance of showing respect to all adults and students in the building to keep our good thing going. ☺

We have just completed the beginning of the year i-Ready assessment. There will be a parent information letter with your child's scores coming home as soon as the data becomes available. If you have questions about the letter, feel free to schedule a time to speak with me. We will be taking this assessment two more times this year. In our classroom we have a data wall that will help your child track their growth on this assessment. On the wall there are numbers, not names for confidentiality reasons. I will tell them their numbers for the data wall and they can share their number with you.

Parents, if you have not sent in the school supplies that were requested at the beginning of the school year please get them in as soon as possible. They are necessary for the daily function of our classroom. If you need another copy of the supply list please let me know.

I will be holding conferences for first quarter report cards after intercession break. Please make sure I have your email address so you can sign up for a conference.

Thank you in advance for allowing me the opportunity to teach your wonderful children.

What's going on in class
